What is a Constitutional Crisis?

It is popular today to say that certain activities in Washington, DC constitute a “constitutional crisis.” We discussed the basic concepts in our February newsletter.

In this blog, we go a little more in-depth on what constitutes a constitutional crisis. Read More...

Happy St. Patrick's Day!

March 17 marks the anniversary of Saint Patrick's death, the patron saint credited with bringing Christianity to Ireland. He famously used the shamrock to represent the Holy Trinity. In the United States, St. Patrick's Day has also become a symbol of Irish American pride and resilience in the face of discrimination.

Celebrating Women's History Month

On International Women's Day, Saturday, March 8, a rally was held in Old Courthouse Square in honor of Women's History Month. Women, men, girls and boys of all ages were in attendance to pay homage to Women's History Month's roots.

Did you know that Women's History Month began as a local celebration right here in Santa Rosa, California in 1978? By 1980, the movement spread across the nation, achieving federal recognition for Women's History Week by President Jimmy Carter.

In 1987, Congress officially passed Public Law 100-9 recognizing March as "Women's History Month"!

Spring Equinox

Welcome, spring! The spring equinox marks the start of spring, when the sun shines equally bright in both the Northern and Southern hemispheres. This year, spring lasts until June 20, the summer solstice.
